A Swearing In Oath of Office Ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. on Sunday, December 28 at Falmouth City Hall for the new mayor and city council members of the city of Falmouth.

Fire breaks out at Dar Pro Solutions

Falmouth firefighters were dispatched just before 8 p.m. on Tuesday, December 16 to Dar Pro Solutions (formerly known as Griffin Industries), located at 1176 Bryan Griffin Road. A fire started inside a machine at the plant due to materials that workers were processing. The blaze caught the building's insulation on fire, made its way through the duct work, and spread to outside equipment. Workers tried to put out the flames but the fire quickly got out of control due to the flammable materials. Northern Pendleton, Kenton County, and Southern Campbell County fire departments were called out to help extinguish the blaze. Pendleton County EMTs and Red Cross were also at the scene. Falmouth firefighters had to return around 3 a.m. for a rekindle. The extent of the damage was not known as of press time. Photo by Jackie Vaughn.

Ladycat MaKayla Bishop scores 1,000 points

Pendleton County Ladycat Makayla Bishop scored her 1,000 career varsity point in the Pendleton County Ladycats 59-52 victory over Augusta on Monday, December 15. Makayla led the Ladycats with 17 points in the victory. With the two victories this week, the junior has scored 1,026 in a combined varsity career at Bellevue and Pendleton County. She came to PCHS with 913 career varsity points that started her seventh grade year. The junior is not done with her Ladycat point total yet as she is leading the team in scoring at 15.5 points per game while shooting 54.4% from the field. She also leads the team in rebounding at 9.2 rpg. Playing for PCHS is no stranger to her as her mother, Heather Courts Ashcraft, was a varsity Ladycat and her cousins, Timmy Cooper and Michael Walsh, had recent successful Wildcat Varsity careers. Her freshmen cousin Grant Walsh is presently a Wildcat varsity member and brother, Jacob Yelton, is a member of the Wildcat freshmen and JV teams.

Grand Jury brings forth seven indictments

Miranda English, dob 1/08/1989, was indicted on charges of trafficking in a controlled substance (heroin) in the first degree - first offense (two (2) or more grams); possession of a controlled substance (oxycodone) in the first degree - first offense; possession

Pass Heroin Legislation now - people are dying

By Andy Beshear,
Attorney and Candidate for Attorney General

Heroin is pure death, and is rapidly spreading through the Commonwealth. It is among the most addictive drugs on Earth, and is devastating Kentucky families in all corners of our state, and in every walk of life. As certain abused prescription drugs have become harder or more expensive to obtain, heroin use has skyrocketed. A year ago, when I began traveling the state as a candidate for attorney general, I felt the devastation of heroin whenever I visited Northern Kentucky. Today, I hear about it in every community I visit. Every room of people that I meet includes parents, aunts and uncles, or friends who have lost loved ones to a heroin overdose. And the data show that we can only expect more - according to the most recent Overdose Fatality Report, in 2013, 31.9 percent of all overdose deaths came from heroin, a 60 percent increase in just one year. Put this statistic in the context that more Kentuckians

I now die from drug overdoses than car wrecks, and it becomes clear - heroin must be stopped now. Delay equals death.

Critical legislation to combat our heroin epidemic died in the 2014 session for one reason: the few things state legislators disagreed on stopped them from passing the many important provisions they agreed on. With the 2015 legislation session fast approaching, the answer is clear - sit down before the session, identify what both chambers agree on, and pass a bill containing those provisions as quickly as possible. Lives depend on it.

From my discussions with families, law enforcement, legislators and doctors, I believe there is agreement on these steps:

Good Samaritan Law - Many overdose deaths could be prevented if other drug users could report overdoses without fear of arrest. A Good Samaritan Law will encourage

Gateway classes begin January 13

Classes will begin Tuesday, January 13 at the Pendleton County Gateway Community and Technical College Center located on the top floor of the Falmouth School Center. For the semester beginning in January, Basic Public Speaking (COM 181) and Writing I (ENG 101) will be offered. ENG 101 will happen on Tuesday nights from 4-6:45 p.m., and COM 181 will happen on Wednesday nights from 5-7:45 p.m. Both courses are excellent choices to begin any program at Gateway or transfer to a four-year institution. In addition, Pendleton County Community Scholarship can be used to help cover costs of these classes. All Pendleton County residents are encouraged to apply and enroll. For questions about the admission process or the Pendleton County Community Scholarship, please email Jason Moore at Jason.moore@kctcs.edu.

Falmouth Rotary Club delivers Christmas food baskets

A community White Christmas ceremony was conducted Sunday, December 14, 2014 at the Falmouth Baptist Church. Eight local churches participated in the services. Enough canned goods were collected at the event to provide holiday dinners for 41 families. For many decades White Christmas was administrated by the Falmouth Woman's Club. Four years ago that organization disbanded and the Falmouth Rotary Club stepped in to continue the White Christmas tradition. Rotary Club members began to deliver the holiday food baskets on Thursday, December 18. The Rotary would like to thank everyone who participated in the services and who contributed can goods for the baskets. What to know about charities before writing a check

It's the season for charitable giving, but do you know where your hard-earned money is really going when you donate to a particular charity? With scams and misspent funds an all too common scenario, it's important to get savvy.

While many Americans know it's crucial to do some background research before writing a check, many donors don't know all the indicators to watch out for, according to new data.

Americans consider finances to be the most important indicator of trust in a charity, according to a study by the Better Business Bureau (BBB).

However, the BBB recommends taking a more holistic approach toward reviewing a charity.

A good place to start your research is by checking whether a charity is accredited by the BBB Wise Giving Alliance, which evaluates charitable organizations on 20 holistic standards covering governance, effectiveness reporting, finances, appeal accuracy and other issues, to assist donors in making informed giving decisions.

To investigate a charity, check out www.give.org. This holiday season, don't just be generous, be wise.

Forest fire hazard season ends

The fall forest fire hazard season officially ended Dec. 15, but officials with the Kentucky Division of Forestry continue to urge caution when conducting any kind of outdoor burning.

"Kentucky's forests have weathered serious storms over the past few years and the increase in dead and fallen trees are of particular concern for fire suppression efforts," said Leah MacSwords, director of the Division of Forestry. "We were fortunate to receive timely precipitation this fall, which kept the fire dangers low."

Since Jan. 1, 1,399 fires have burned 40,251 acres across the state. While arson continues to be the leading cause of wildfires in Kentucky, many regions of the state showed an increase in debris fires.

Forestry officials reported the following numbers as causes for this year's wildfires:

900 arson fires, 305 debris fires and 194 fires due to lightning, faulty equipment and other causes. The increase in debris fires is likely due to the accumulation of dead trees and limbs from storm damage. The danger of setting fire to debris piles and fence rows is often underestimated and the potential for these fires to spread to the woods is much higher than in years past due to the condition of our woods.

For more information about fire hazard seasons, outdoor burning laws and safe debris burning practices, contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry at 1-800-866-0555 or visit the division's website at <http://forestry.ky.gov/>.

Citizens should also check with the Kentucky Division for Air Quality, the Kentucky Division of Waste Management and local agencies to ensure that you are obeying all outdoor burning laws.

reporting of overdoses and save lives. More than twenty states have passed similar laws. Kentucky must join them.

Provide Naloxone To First Responders - Naloxone, a drug that can reverse an overdose if applied in time, can be an important and effective tool to prevent overdose deaths. We must expand its availability to first responders, as more than twenty-four other states have done. Kentucky must join them.

I also believe that legislators should come together to find agreement on two other important tactics to combat heroin:

Increased penalties - While sentencing reduction laws may be appropriate for some drugs, they are wrong for heroin. Penalties for dealing heroin must be so severe that they dissuade a dealer from selling the drug, and they must ensure a significant portion of any sentence is actually served. Heroin dealers must know that selling any amount of heroin will result in a substantial incarceration.

Increased access to comprehensive drug treatment - Heroin addiction is incredibly difficult to beat. While new laws require some drug treatment to be covered by health insurance, many covered treatments are too short, and don't work for many addicts. We must make comprehensive treatment more accessible.

Heroin already has touched or will touch - and possibly take - the lives of your family, friends, or neighbors. I would know, it has in my neighborhood. When I moved to my current house five years ago, the first person I met was a then-twelve year old girl who immediately volunteered to babysit if and when we needed it. In May, she told me she had, less than a year ago, lost her older brother, who died of an overdose the very first time he tried heroin. One bad choice on one bad night had robbed her family of their loved one. We must do everything we can to ensure that young man, and the many other children and young adults we have lost, have not died in vain. We must use their stories to educate both our Kentucky children and adults that taking heroin - even once - will wreck your life and devastate the lives of those around you.

Ultimately, what matters most is that the state act as quickly as possible in the 2015 session. Please join me in urging our legislature to find common ground, pass what they already agree on quickly, and fight about the rest later. The threat of heroin is too great, and our families cannot wait. To those who have lost loved ones, to those fighting to save a loved one, and to those genuinely trying to break an addiction, I will stand with you in this fight.

Kenneth T. Marquette Jr., a 1961 graduate of Pendleton County High School, has completed the requirements for a B.S. Degree in the College of Commerce, with a major in accounting at the University of Kentucky. He is the eldest son of Postmaster and Mrs. Kenneth T. Marquette Sr. of Falmouth, Kentucky.

Through the generosity of many, the Falmouth Woman's Club was able to distribute thirty baskets of food to the less fortunate this Christmas Holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Grigson of Berlin, Kentucky, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home on Sunday, December 30th, with a dinner and open house in the afternoon and evening.

A Christmas Dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mages Bishop of Hayes. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Beauford Turner and Linda Louise of near Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bishop and Terry and Julie Ann, of Cincinnati. Those who were there for supper included Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bishop and Karen Elaine of Hayes.

Mr. Theodore F. Monroe, a former resident of Falmouth, recently opened an office at 27 East Pike Street, Cynthiana, Ky. He is licensed to practice as a Certified Public Accountant by the State Board of Accountancy of Kentucky. Mr. Monroe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Monroe, Sr., and the brother of City Attorney, Edwin A. Monroe, Jr. of Falmouth.

County Judge W. J. Newkirk and Mayor J.M. Mason went to Frankfort last week and met with the State Highway Department concerning the building of Route No. 27 from Butler to the Harrison County line.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 3 was Cold Cash Day in Falmouth, sponsored by the progressive merchants, and was attended by more than a thousand citizens from every section of the county. More than twenty merchants inaugurated this movement for the purpose of stimulating business and creating a good feeling with the citizens who shop in this city.

Falmouth defeated Williamstown here last night by a score of 25 to 23. It was the first win of the season for the Red Devils, and also a Penogram defeat for Williamstown.

It has been extremely dry all fall and winter and this has caused a shortage of water in the county. To add to the seriousness of the situation, the cold weather of the past ten days has caused the small supply of water in the creeks, ponds and springs to freeze, cutting of this supply.

Chris Wilson, who was recently admitted to the bar, will have his first case in the Pendleton Circuit Court at this session.

Monday afternoon, Jan. 1, 1940, was a most happy occasion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Layman of Wesley Chapel, when their relatives and friends assembled at their home to help them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

A burglar tried to gain entrance to the home of James H. Shields in East End early Tuesday evening. The women folks of the house heard him trying to pick the lock of the front door, and frightened him away by giving an alarm. Prowlers had better cut this out, or the undertakers will have a job.

Dr. W. P. Hill of this city received a fine box of rare specimens of Florida fruit this week from a friend at Fort Meyer, Fla. In the lot is a lemon about the size of a watermelon. It is on exhibition at E.F. Bradford's store. If you want to see a lemon that is a lemon, take a peep at this one.

Alvin N. Wiggins has opened up a repair shop in the building next to Wm. Frazier's blacksmith shop near the covered bridge. He solicits all kinds of wool repair work in cabinet work, saw sharpening, etc. First-class work guaranteed.

Louis A. Applegate left today for Lakeland, Fla. and will remain in that sunny climate until the robins nest again. He is in bad health and he goes south with the hope that the change will be beneficial to him. He will stop at the Loyal Hotel, operated by W. C. Doughty and family.

Mrs. J.H. Godman, of near Morgan, renews her subscription, and says that she wouldn't know anything if it wasn't for the Outlook.

Frank Bray and brother, of the northern part of the county, were here Monday watching the tobacco market. They have two crops of tobacco.

The little blonde Christmas doll

By Randall Franks

The winter of '34 in the valley below the Gravelly Spur was an especially hard one. A Christmas snow had blanketed the valley, making travel through the mountain passes treacherous, even if taken by foot.

With one false step, even those who knew the routes by heart could find themselves slipping into a snow drift hiding a potential fall. However, for most of the children of the valley the snow turned it into a winter wonderland. Pearl, Ruby and the Wood boys were finding whatever they could ride to go sledding down Turner's gorge. At the bottom of the gorge lay a pond formed from Frog Leg Creek which was covered in a thick coat of ice almost strong enough for skating. No one had any skates so they would simply slide across on the soles of the new shoes they received when the crops were sold.

While the children were unaware, most of the parents of the valley knew that the reality of the year had left them all in dire straits.

Toys at Christmas were largely a luxury in the valley. Even the well-to-do families were having trouble this year. The customary apple, banana or piece of peppermint stick candy that most of the children found in their stocking might be missed this year.

Pearl had sensed the concerns of her parents and with six children and four share-cropping families to help, she knew her father was doing all he could that year.

The unexpected snow however made it difficult for anything not already on hand to be brought into the valley.

Still Pearl hoped that she might find a little something for her Christmas morning that she could call her very own.

As she was sliding on the ice, she listened as the Wood boys laughed about what happened to what they got the year before.

"I can't believe what George did to our present last year," Woody said. "We got a whole string of firecrackers to split between us boys and he nearly run us out of the house with them." "He got up early Christmas morning and found them. They had this long string running through connecting them, so he took that loose and was counting them and splitting them up so we all had the same amount," he said. "He threw that long piece of string in the fire. That thing jumped back out right in the middle of his pile. You should have seen George when those firecrackers started going off in every direction. They even jumped up in the bed with the rest of us and got everybody up in the house." But in spite of the snow, Santa would be making his usual stops at the Gravelly Spur no matter what. Because of the terrain, this year he would only make one stop in the valley and all the neighbors would go by Christmas morning and pick up what he had brought for the valley children.

Santa's helper in the valley was Rev. Ben Smathers, who waited patiently Christmas Eve for Santa's arrival. As the families came to Big Lick Church Christmas morning, he would then, one by one, distribute the gifts and the community would then gather for a celebration of Christ's birth.

Christmas morning, Pearl was up early, anxious for the trip to the church. In her stocking she found an orange and a stick of candy. When the family arrived at the church, she joined the other children in line at the tree and stepped up to Rev. Smathers. He placed in her arms a little blonde doll in a woven basket lying upon a blue cotton pillow.

"It is so beautiful," she said. "Is she really mine?" "Yes, just for you my dear," he said. "So you take good care of her."

As she looked in the eyes of her new friend, Pearl beamed with the joy of Christmas.

It was not stacks of gifts which made her eyes glimmer and her face shine with the light of the season. It was one simple gift of her very own given by the heart of a pastor who knew without his help many children would do without that Christmas.

Don't kick Santa Claus across the yard

By Glenn Mollette

This Christmas give somebody the gift of mercy and forgiveness. Actually be broad with your giving and generous. We all need a lot of both. For such a joyful holiday of cheer, giving and yuletide merriment there are certainly a lot of stressed out sourpuss faces and agitated people. If you haven't seen any of these you probably haven't been to the mall or busy shopping districts. People get tense over decorating, shopping, spending, and fitting into their schedules all the jolly dinners, gatherings and religious services. You may have watched Chevy Chase in National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation. He becomes over the top stressed out when his Christmas lights don't work and literally kicks, stomps and curses a blue streak across his yard. It's a funny scene. Mostly because in some way we've all been there a time or two.

We go crazy at Christmas. Everything is totally and abnormally different from the rest of the year. We spend money, eat, cook, travel and over schedule more than any other time of the year. By the time December 26 rolls around we're sick of Christmas. We start making a list of New Year's resolutions that include never doing some of the stuff ever again that we did at Christmas! By the time the next Christmas rolls around we do it all over again and often worse than the year before. We promise and swear we are going to do things differently but as long as we are able we do it over and again.

Most of us enjoy giving if we can. We enjoy giving to the people we love. Christmas trees, decorating, eating and gatherings are all a part of the season. However, we become frustrated when we lose sight of the big picture. The big picture includes looking around and beyond our Christmas pain. Millions of people would simply be thrilled to have the problems that some of us have. Many people are in the nursing home and will never go to the mall again. Some have a terminal disease and this may be their last Christmas. Others, would simply love to have a house to decorate or someone to buy a gift for.

Celebrate Christmas this year. Give away some special gifts. Give gifts that money can't buy or time cannot fade. Give love, give forgiveness and give some mercy. Extend these generously to yourself. If you can't give them to yourself it's impossible to give them to others. The little baby that Christmas celebrates became a man and taught people that we should love God and love others as we love ourselves. Herein is part of the rub. Too often people stop loving themselves. Life becomes imperfect, we fail, get hurt or mad and we kick Santa or the reindeer across the yard. Unfortunately we stop there. We go into Ebenezer Scrooge bah humbug mode. We don't get our groove back and miss out on some of Christmas' most wonderful characteristics—mercy and forgiveness. The Christmas story is about a child who came to show us the way. He showed us how to love, forgive and be merciful. Some of the people in your life probably need it more than you know. Give generously and start with yourself.

Even Santa Claus has limitations

By Daris Howard

The community Christmas party was only a few days away when the woman in charge called and asked, "Daris, would you be willing to be Santa at our Christmas party this year?"

I taught the children music at church and knew them well. I love children and thought this would be a fun thing to do. I have also done a lot of acting and felt I could disguise my voice enough that they wouldn't recognize me, so I accepted.

The night came, and after the community dinner, I dressed in the red garb, black boots, and fake beard and wig. At the appointed time, I ho-hoed my way into the big hall. The children rushed around me, and the adults had to clear a path so I could make my way to the chair that had been prepared for me.

The first child of the night was a rambunctious little boy who pushed his way to the front of the line. He had more energy than a level 5 hurricane and could be a challenging little boy, but I loved him.

I pulled him onto my lap. "So, Jason, have you been good this year?" He nodded. "I've been the best ever." I laughed my Santa laugh. "Oh, really? What about that time you didn't shut the gate on the horse corral and the whole community was out trying to round up the horses?" His eyes grew wide with surprise. "You know about that?" "Of course. Santa knows everything." "Well," he said, "I've been mostly good most of the time." I chuckled. "Don't worry about it. Even Santa isn't perfect. Did you know I accidentally let the reindeer out once? If you think chasing down horses is hard, you ought to see what it's like trying to corral flying reindeer."

He smiled and told me what he wanted for Christmas. I gave him a little hug and a bag of candy, and he climbed off of my lap and scampered off to his mother to tell her I was the real Santa.

I personalized each child's experience, and each one was surprised to find out how much I knew about them. A few of the older children were quite sure they knew who I was, but even they laughed at what I could tell them about themselves, and they were mostly only there for the candy, anyway.

The last child of the night was a feisty little girl who was about six years old. She was the youngest in her family by quite a bit. I knew her well and knew that she hadn't waited to be last because she was shy. Quite the contrary. I could tell that she had something important on her mind. I lifted her onto my lap and asked, "So, Brittany, have you been a good girl this year?"

She had heard me talk to the other children, and she paused. Finally she said, "Mostly. Sometimes I get mad when my brother teases me about being the baby of the family. And sometimes I don't do my chores." I laughed. "Well, even I haven't been perfect." "Really?" she asked. "No," I replied. "I got mad at Rudolph one night when he was sneaking around scaring elves, jumping out at them with his glowing nose." Her eyes grew wide with wonder. "Really?" "Yes," I replied. "Even Santa can have one of those days, or nights, as it may be. So what would you like for Christmas?"

She sat up straight and looked right at me very seriously. "I want a baby brother so everyone will quit calling me the baby of the family."

Brittany's mom was there taking pictures, and she let out an exasperated gasp. "Brittany, I have told you and told you that you are not getting a baby brother!" Brittany leaned up close and whispered in my ear. "You see how she is? I decided it was time to go over her head." I laughed. "You know, Brittany, I'm not sure Santa is over your mom's head on this one."

Yes, even Santa has limitations on what he can do.

Potato and Spinach Bocconcini

What You Need

1 1/2 lb spinach, fresh
3 medium potatoes, russets
2 large eggs
2 oz shredded mozzarella cheese
1/2 tsp kosher salt
1/2 tsp pepper
1/4 c all purpose flour
1 lb butter, unsalted

Directions

• Boil spinach in a cup of water with a 1/2 teaspoon of salt.
• Boil potatoes until tender.
• Peel potatoes and pass them through a food mill along with the spinach.
• Add two egg yolks and one egg white to the potato/spinach mixture.

• Add the mozzarella cheese, pepper and a 1/4 cup of flour. Mix together completely.
• Make 2 inch balls of the mixture, brush them with egg white and roll in flour.
• Fry in an abundant amount of butter.

Holiday wishes from kids at Head Start

The children from the Northern Kentucky Community Action Commission Head Start Center want to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! Head Start is located at 409 Barkley Street in Falmouth. For more information, please call 859-654-2958 or visit www.nkcac.org or www.facebook.com/nkcac on the internet.

Christmas may hold long lost treasure for you

The holidays may hold a long lost treasure for you but you won't find it in a stocking or under the tree!

If you're a "Santa" or a "Claus" with some "holly" or a "wreath" in your name or an "elf" or a "merry" with "sleighs" and "deer," there may be some unclaimed property being held for you at the Kentucky State Treasury.

In fact the Kentucky Treasury's unclaimed property database contains 253 properties with the name Santa attached, 96 with Claus, 154 hollies, 2 wreaths, 87 with the name elf, 83 merrys, 8 sleighs and 323 with the name deer.

Each year, the Kentucky Treasury returns millions of dollars in unclaimed property to Kentucky residents. Kentucky Treasurer Todd Hollenbach has set a goal of returning $120-million before the end of the New Year in 2015. Since 2008, under the proactive leadership of his Treasure Finders Program, the Treasurer has returned a record $115-million in unclaimed property to Kentuckians.

But you don't have to be named Kringle to collect some jingle! Searching for unclaimed property is as simple as the click of a mouse. All you need to do is visit missingmoney.com, enter your state and name and begin your search.

Always remember if you don't have access to a computer and the internet, you can call toll free 800-465-4722.

Happy Holidays and Happy Treasure Finding!

"Even in Darkness" by Lynn Hightower

By Fran Carr

Set in the Bluegrass Region of Kentucky, Even in Darkness by Lynn Hightower, takes the reader through the psychological and personal struggles of the once famous televangelist, Joy Miller. Miller, a near recluse since the deaths of her husband and her son, withholds from the FBI some of her knowledge about the sociopathic killer stalking her and holding her granddaughter and daughter-in-law hos-tag. In doing so, she hopes to save their lives. Will she or will her plan backfire?

This book is not short on suspense. As Miller is in communication with the kidnapper/murderer-for-hire and not trusted by FBI agents assigned to the case, she struggles with her own feelings about her personal losses. While the killer tries to convince her that he wants to change and that she is the key to his success, she has mixed feelings. Does she tell him the truth or does she tell him what she thinks he wants to hear? If she makes the wrong choice, will he kill her family? Will he kill her?

It is easy to pick the killer and hard to understand why Miller did not realize who it was, but the ending is not something the reader will be able to predict. This quick read is hard to put down. For the Kentuckian, the settings will be familiar places of interest, which is just an added bonus.

Better Business Bureau has tips on holiday travel

The holiday travel season is upon us! Better Business Bureau has some tips on how to make your holiday travel a little brighter.

Do Your Research. If you are driving, before you hit the road, find alternative routes in case of traffic delays. Also, travel with GPS.

Create a Car Safety Kit. Holiday driving often includes the threat of dangerous winter weather. Snow and ice lead to accidents, car troubles, long delays and road closures.

You can prepare for bad weather by creating your own safety kit. Basics for the kit include blankets, flashlight with extra batteries, radio, first aid kit, jumper cables, non-perishable foods like granola bars and nuts, bottled water, an ice scraper and warm gloves.

Take the Car in for a Checkup. If your car is due for a checkup, take it in before making that long haul. At the very least, check the car's fluid levels, wipers and tire pressure. Check the condition of your tires and, if you plan on driving through serious winter weather, consider getting snow tires.

Stay Connected. Download the latest travel apps on your smart phone.

Take BBB with you. When you're away from home or in the midst of an emergency, it's hard to know which businesses - such as tow trucks and locksmiths - you can trust.

Download BBB's iPhone App to find businesses you can trust.

Start Early and Slow Down. The best way to fight holiday traffic is to give yourself some extra time to make the trip, and don't speed. Speeding leads to accidents, which slow traffic and cause bottlenecks. Also, if you're caught speeding by law enforcement, that adds travel time and puts a dent in your holiday spending.

Drop the Distractions. According to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, drivers who use handheld devices are four times as likely to get into crashes serious enough to injure themselves. When you're behind the wheel, don't text and drive, use a hands free headset when talking on the phone, and get someone else to fumble with the GPS.

BLANKET CREEK

This morning we started with emphasis on foreign mission, especially Lot-tie Moon. This is the time of year we honor this missionary to China who gave her life for the lost of that country, by taking a special offering to support foreign missions. Bro. Joe's message was "The Unchanging Person of Christ and His pilgrimage." Did you know that the ground of Calvary is flat? The word of God is freely spoken and it is for everyone. If we know Christ our loneliness is replaced with God's presence. When we are uncertain what to do He will guide us. God has promised us a place with Him in the land of Milk and Honey and He never lies. His word is unchangeable. If He has a task for you He will give you what you need to do it. What do you feel the Lord asking you to do?

We added Sarah Noonchester to the prayer list and the family of Nancy Angel.

BUTLER BAPTIST

We love to have Spencer Bay come and share his marvelous talents with us. It added to our Christmas spirit as he played his french horn during our Moravian Love Feast. Thank you Spencer, it was a joy to have you with us.

The Advent study "Not a Silent Night" continues each Sunday morning during Sunday school, you are welcome to join us.

We will be having a Christmas Eve service on the 24th here at 7 p.m. Come and worship and discover the reason for the season.

Tammy's children's message was both timely and simple but got the message to our young ones. Using a string of Christmas lights she told how the lights at Christmas represent Jesus as the light of the world.

Please keep in your prayers, Crystal Adams, Christians being mistreated, Kathy Jones, Lori Fookes, Velma Steele, Ron Hitch, Brenda's grandson, Gary Seibel's son, Nancy's co-worker, Carolyn and Frank, and our many praises.

Merry Christmas, may you find what you are looking for this season. Peace and good will toward all. God bless us everyone.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE

Pastor Kevin's message was titled "Prepared, but not ready!" Many Christians claim that they are prepared to meet Jesus, yet, by no means are they ready to leave this world behind. The thought of death brings fear to our hearts.

We must remember that through the Lord's death and resurrection that the sting of death has been removed and death is swallowed up in victory.

There were five points to the message: 1) Heaven is a prepared place for a prepared people. 2) Heaven is a place where God dwells in love with His people. 3) Heaven is a place of perfect holiness. 4) Heaven is a place of exemption from all suffering and pain. 5) Heaven is a place where rewards will be given and enjoyed!

Prayer concerns this week: Leona Owens, Woody Smith, Opal Compton, Rick Justice, John Bobb, Georgia Pribble and Wes Cain Sr.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

Merry Christmas from the Falmouth Baptist Church. In the hustle and bustle of the coming days, take time to stop and praise God. He gave us the best gift imaginable through his son, Jesus Christ. The birth of Jesus IS the reason for the season!

Although our first picture of Jesus as a baby in a manger, it must not be our last. The Christ-child in the manger has been made into a beautiful Christmas scene, but we cannot leave Him there. This tiny, helpless baby lived an amazing life, died for us, ascended to heaven, and will come back to earth as King of kings. Christ will rule the world and judge all the people according to their decision about him. Do you still picture Jesus as a baby in a manger - or is He your Lord? Make sure you don't underestimate Jesus. Let him grow up in your life.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Brother Rick's message was from Matthew 1:18-25 titled, "Joseph's Dream." The angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, "Don't hesitate to take Mary as your wife." For the child within her has been conceived by the Holy Spirit. The only way Jesus could be born without sin, was to be born of the Virgin Mary. All things are possible with God.

Christmas Eve service 7 p.m. December 24. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Keep Christ in Christmas.

FALMOUTH WESLEYAN

Sunday's service was blessed by great praises and testimonies to our God and Savior. Brother Brown sang "Pass Me Not O Gentle Savior" as his testimony.

Rebecca Burgos is a member of a missionary family which the church supports. She will be leaving once again to the mission field. She visited our church and spoke of the important needs that Missionary kids (Mks) have when parents leave for the mission field. They need more than to be simply "baby sat." They need to be counseled because many are going through a difficult time not having a "home," or being like other children. This is the ministry the Lord has given her. Let's pray for her.

To accommodate everyone's busy schedules we will be having three Christmas Eve services.

Wednesday December 24, 11 a.m., 5 p.m. and a candle-light service at 8 p.m.

Come celebrate this amazing gift with us!

FIRST BAPTIST

Blessings! The 3rd Advent candle of the season, the joy candle, was lit by Billy and Debbie Dennie and family. Karen Crozier blessed us when she sang, "He came all this way to make your heart His home."

Bro. Harry's message, "The joy of Christmas," was taken from Luke. There are all kinds of joy. The joy of a new baby, the joy of love, the joy of all of God's creation. The most important joy is the joy we have at Christmas, knowing that Jesus was born to save a lost and dying world. Death has no power over us, for with Christ, we will live forever with Him in eternity.

Pray for all those needing prayer for salvation, hope, healing and peace.

"He who has not Christmas in his heart will never find it under the tree!"

HARVEST COMMUNITY

We invite you to join us for our Candlelight Christmas Eve service at 10 p.m. at 111 E. Shelby St. Our youth will perform Christmas Shadow dramas, "The Christmas Story" and "Mary Did You Know?" Come share in the celebration of the birth of our Lord and Savior.

"Are We Missing Christmas?" was the topic of Bro. Donnie's morning message. Do we focus on the hype or the hope of Christmas? Do we get too "busy" to really experience the true reason for the season? We must focus on the One who came as a baby born in a manger, and who will come again as our King!

Prayer concerns: Debbie Veirs, Ester Lytle, Velma Steele, Kathy Wyatt, Mark Perkins, Isabella O'Hara, and the families of Kenneth Harper and Brenda Burkner.

May everyone be blessed with a very Merry Christmas!

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

Christmas brings the joys of Advent, the celebration of the birth of Jesus. Dawn and Steve Wood lit our hope candle November 30. April and Ken Lecrone lit our love candle December 7. Alison and Chris Moore lit our joy candle this morning December 14.

Children's Moment celebrated the birthday of Jesus. They all sang Happy Birthday Dear Jesus. Jesus is the reason we celebrate Christmas.

"Today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you; he is the Messiah, the Lord."
~ Luke 2:11

"I am a Christian" was Steve Wood's topic this morning. He stressed the fact that God is with us at all times. His presence is everywhere. Each person is a church not the building in which we worship. "God does not call us to be in church. He calls us to be His Church."

When you help someone up a hill, you get that much closer to the top yourself.

MR. MORIAH

The third Sunday of Advent is about joy. Our Candle of joy was lit by Stan and Sharon Stewart. We had our Christmas program put on by the youth and the choir along with help from many other church members. A special thank you to Jane Bentele for creating and producing our program. The children are such a huge part of our church and our future community leaders. They all received a treat bag as they were leaving.

We added many to our prayer list this week including, Darrel Breeden, Jim Thacker, Donna Thacker and many in our community suffering from the flu and other viruses, and those dealing with addiction in their families.

In January we will begin a youth program on Wednesday nights. We encourage all to attend. Join us for Sunday school at 10 a.m. service at 10:45 a.m. Please join us.

NEW ZION

Come join us for worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., morning worship is at 11 a.m. and evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m.

Upcoming opportunities: The trip to Bracken County Nursing Home will be 3 p.m. December 28, 8 p.m. December 31, there will be a New Year's Eve Party (don't forget to get your music request to Mickey).

Matthew 1:21 (and she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins.)

Please remember in prayer John Thomas, Tina Cochran, Mable Fields, Sadie Perkins, Reba Kelly, Betty and Carl Bay, Kathy Thomas, Ricky Bishop, Kay Thomas, Myrtle Bishop and the Harper family. Also remember to pray for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

"All I Want for Christmas" is peace on earth. Isn't that the truth! This was the message of the morning.

This week our people will be delivering gifts to the Falmouth Nursing Home and the Front Gate at Butler.

A retirement celebration for Pendleton Co. Judge Executive Henry Bertram is 1-4 p.m. December 28, at the Pendleton Co. Extension Office on Hwy 27.

Remember in prayer the loved ones of Kenneth Harper, Brenda Burkner, Ronald Ewing King, and Dorothy Weaver. Other prayer concerns include Mable Fields (Cedar Ridge), Jeanine and Chanis Cox, Brianna Aulick (ACL), Judy Youngblood, Blanche Cannon, Pat Ray, Norma Wilson, Larry Clemons (Cedar Ridge) Eli Stahl, Matt Wolfe, Woodie Smith (Cedar Ridge), Lowell Thomas, Barbara Singer, Debbie Veirs, Juanita Bentele, Dan Pence, Imogene Jacobs (Bronchitis), shut-ins, armed forces, cancer concerns, and our nation's leaders.

"Merry Christmas" to all. (Remember the reason for the season.)

PLEASANT RIDGE

Bro. Rick's message was from Isaiah 43:1-7. Even everyone that is called by my name: for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him; yea, I have made him.

Have you ever thought about your life as what if's? What would have happened if things were different? You had married someone other than your spouse? How many children will you have? Had a different career? Where you go to church? What will happen when you die? Our lives are not in our hands but who's hands are they in? The creator of all. He directs our journey. Final destiny is eternal life with God. God keeps his promises no matter what happens in our lives. He picks us up when we fall and comforts us.

Life is like a box of chocolate. When you pick one up you never know what you're going to get. Put your trust in God for He is the one who knows what we will get. Live by faith and not by sight.

Evening Bible study 6 p.m.

PINE GROVE

The Christmas service began December 10, with the meeting of the Dream Kids in the evening. After the preliminary activities of their meeting and a snack, they proceeded to the sanctuary to prepare for their Christmas presentation.

The ladies of the church packed platters with a variety of goodies for the community shut-ins.

On December 14, our service opened with the congregation singing "Away in the Manger" followed by Brother Ron reading Matthew 1:18-25.

We were then blessed with our Dream Kids presenting a variety of activities portraying the true Christmas season. Included were singing groups, acrostics, scripture reading and the presentation of Mary & Joseph and the Baby Jesus.

New prayer concerns include Bonnie Florence John Insko, Jean Myers, and the family of Kenneth Harper.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

SOUTHSIDE

On December 14, Marvin Sullivan led the congregation with the opening hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy!" Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Christmas Hope: The Story of Mary" from Luke 1:26-56. He talked about the characteristics of Mary that we should model in our lives. The memory verse for the week comes from Luke 1:37, "For nothing is impossible with God."

On December 24, 2014 at 8 p.m., the Southside Church of Christ will be hosting the Christmas Eve Service. Please come to help celebrate Jesus Christ's birth.

Please remember in prayer those that are on the prayer list, the leaders of our country, and those in the service of our country.

Worship with us this Sunday: 9 a.m. Sunday school and 10 a.m. worship service.

TRINITY

Merry Christmas! Say it loud and say it proud to everyone you meet this holiday season.

We were honored to have a special guest, Miss Lottie Moon to share her testimony with us and tell how she ministered to the people of China. Thank you Alane for reminding us how important Lottie's mission was. This was a kick-off for our Christmas Offering.

Bro. Hefner continued the Advent lesson for the children's sermon. Today they lit the angel candle and were reminded about the prophecy and Bethlehem candles.

Morning message came from Luke 1:39-45, "The great I Am - in the womb." Amazing is our Lord. Even John the Baptist was rejoicing for Christ even before he was born.

We thank Falmouth Baptist for hosting the White Christmas service. It was wonderful.

Our candlelight service will be at 8 p.m. December 24.

Remember those on our prayer list. Memories are special reflections from the heart.

TURNER RIDGE

After Bro. Dale welcomed those in attendance and we greeted one another we celebrated the ordinance of Baptism, watching Jeffrey Duncan be born again and give his life to Christ.

Michaela Wright shared special music and then the Osterlind family lit the advent candle. During Bow At the Manger we brought our Lottie Moon Christmas Offering to the manger. We ask for God to bless our offering and share the word of Jesus Christ with all those far and wide.

During the children's message Bro. Dale showed them a string of Christmas lights and then told them that the lights reminded him of how Jesus is the light of our world.

Luke Wessel read scripture Ephesians 2:14-15 and then Lonnie & Regina Gregg brought special music before Bro. Dale's message.

Our message explained that by Jesus coming and living among us, knowing He would then die the most horrible death on the cross, we can have peace. "Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" Romans 5:1.

Merry Christmas.

Ladycats complete sweep of Ludlow

As the second game of a varsity doubleheader versus Ludlow and the Wildcats Varsity and Junior Varsity both winning as well as the Ladycats JV running out to a 19-0 halftime lead in blowing out Ludlow, the last game of the evening was a tight contest for the Ladycats.

They jumped out early building a 14-3 lead before the Panthers scored 15 straight points to take an 18-14 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Ludlow held a 4-point halftime lead but PC tied it up at the end of three. The 4th quarter was all Ladycats as they placed six players in the scoring column led by Isabella Hall with six including 4 of 4 from the charity stripe and some beautiful passes for each baskets by her teammates. MaKayla Bishop had six and McKayla Manor had seven including her fifth three of the game.

The Ladycats completed the 4-game sweep with a 69-62 victory.

Manor's five threes and four of four from the free throw line contributed to her team high 23 points. Bishop had 14 and Isabella tallied 11.

The win evened the Ladycats record to 3-3.

Earlier in the week, PCHS defeated old 38th District foe Augusta 59-52 which was highlighted by Makayla Bishop scoring her 1,000 career point as a varsity basketball player.

Amberly Purdy positions herself inside for the offensive rebound. She had 20 points in the Ladycats two games this past week and her inside scoring has been a big part of the Ladycats' victories.

The transfer from Bellevue finished with 17 points and is averaging 15.5 ppg leading the Ladycats.

In another tight contest, the Ladycats trailed by a single point after the first eight minutes were played but turned that around for a one point lead at the half.

Augusta took a two point lead after three but like the Ludlow game, the Cats' press wore down Augusta and they won the pivotal fourth quarter 21-12 for the seven point victory.

Amberly Purdy carried the team in the 4th scoring eight of her fourteen points. Bailey Wanstrath had a big three pointer of her 10 points.

The Ladycats played St. Henry on Saturday, Dec. 20 and Paris on Monday night, Dec. 22 but results were not available at press time. They will travel to Paris after Christmas for the Bourbon County Holiday Invitational.

Pendleton County Alumni Night, January 2

Starting in the 1960s through mid-1990s, there was a major rival for Pendleton County. When a basketball was tossed for tip-off of a Pendleton County versus Bracken County basketball game, it was sure to be a tightly contested game with the wooden bleachers packed with loud fans yelling for their team and at the officials.

In the midst of holiday and gathering with family this holiday break, there is a chance to remember those days as Pendleton County High School will be hosting Alumni Night at the Ladycat and Wildcat basketball games versus old 38th District rival Bracken County.

Ladycat Varsity will play in the main gym at 6 p.m. versus the Lady Polar Bears with Junior Varsity to follow in the auxiliary gym.

Wildcat Varsity will play in the main gym at approximately 7:30 p.m.

versus the Polar Bears with Junior Varsity tipping off at 6 p.m. in the auxiliary gym.

The PCHS Alumni Band will be the Pep Band. Don't miss out on this opportunity. You can get involved through the PC Alumni Band Facebook page.

Mark your calendars and don't miss out on this great night to catch up with old friends and support today's Ladycats and Wildcats.

Wildcats defeat unbeaten Augusta

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The Pendleton County Wildcats basketball team scored its biggest win of the early season on Monday, Dec. 15, with a 78-70 upset of the previously unbeaten Augusta Panthers.

Following a slow start by both clubs that saw PC open the second quarter with an 11-9 lead, the Cats offense exploded for a 25-point outburst that saw them go ahead by double-figures. The Wildcats took advantage of sharp three-point shooting to pull ahead of Augusta as the home crowd went into a frenzy. The Cats went into the half with a 36-22 lead.

The start of the second half saw the Panthers make a furious comeback, cutting the 14-point deficit to eight less than 90 seconds into the third quarter. Augusta would narrow the margin to 39-36 before the Cats responded with a run of their own, pushing the lead back to eight points as the quarter drew to a close.

Both teams battled evenly throughout the final eight minutes, but Augusta was unable to get any closer than five points as the Cats established dominance in the paint in large part due to a career performance by senior center Hunter Lea, who pulled down 18 rebounds to go along with 15 points and three blocks. Pendleton County sank 17 of 23 free throws including several in the final ninety seconds to preserve an eight-point victory.

Junior Michael Antrobus led four Wildcats who reached double-figures with 17 points, five rebounds and four assists. Tanner Daugherty added 14 points while Patrick McCain chipped in with 13. The Panthers were led by Camryn Snapp who finished with a game-high 27 points.

Senior Wildcat Patrick McCain takes the ball toward the basket in the Wildcats match-up versus Augusta. He scored 13 points in the 78-70 victory.

"I was pleased with our defensive focus for the entire game. Augusta is a very difficult team to guard because they are aggressive and they have so many weapons," said head coach Keaton Belcher.

Belcher also noted the tenacity his team used on the boards, and the inspiring performance delivered by his senior center.

"Hunter Lea's inside presence has been a huge factor in our success so far this season. He is a tenacious rebounder and our players feed off his energy in the post. Our players bought into the scouting report and embraced the rebounding aspect of the game," he said.

The win marks the third straight victory for the Wildcats following an 0-3 start. Due to an early press date, results for the Dec. 18 match-up with Ludlow (3-3) and the Dec. 19 showdown versus Bracken County (1-5) will be found in next week's issue.

GriefWork: guides for survival and growth-survivors of suicide

Grief following a suicide is difficult and complex. Survivors typically struggle with a wide range of painful feelings, including emotions that may be frightening and explosive.

In the words of suicide survivor Geri Couchman: "Survivors of suicide are the walking wounded. Someone they loved, a friend, a parent, a sibling, a spouse, or perhaps the most painful, a child killed themselves. Most of them have gone through psychological and physical torture that is difficult to describe. Many seek counseling because of the trauma of losing someone to suicide. Regardless, they will struggle for years to accept the consequences of these tragic deaths. These survivors feel not only grief or anger but also guilt, depression, exhaustion, hostility, terror and vulnerability."

Open to your grief
If you have just experienced the suicide of a loved one, your recovery will not be an easy task. But you can do it. If you allow and express your feelings, if you reach out and share with those who care and can help, and if you draw upon your inner resources, you will survive. At times the going will be rough, but you'll make it. The pain will lessen; you will heal and grow. The clouds of grief and the emotional storms will gradually pass, and once again the sun of a new day will brighten and warm your life.

Remember that the only way out of your grief is through it. Time alone will not heal your grief. You need to surrender into the experience and learn from it. Don't fight your feelings, no matter how painful or how inappropriate they may seem. Grief is a natural process that you cannot rush. Allow it; trust it. It's nature's way of healing a broken heart.

Don't try to hide the suicide or keep it a secret. Don't tell half-truths. For the wounds to heal, you must talk about the death openly. As William Shakespeare wisely counseled, "Give sorrow words." Talk about the person who committed suicide. Openly express your thoughts and feelings, even when they are so confused that it's hard to give them words.

If you are a friend who wants to help

Because of their difficult and mixed emotions, and because of social stigma and embarrassment, suicide survivors often feel alone and isolated at a time when they desperately need comfort, understanding and love. The grief of a survivor is so complex and intense that it may be next to impossible for him or her to reach out for help. As a caring friend, go ahead and take the lead, but do so gently and humbly.

Simply be there as a friend, trusting your own impulses about what to say or do. Know that a loving touch and caring silence can speak louder than words. It may take a while before your friend begins to open up. Shy away from simplistic answers and advice giving; instead, focus on listening and trying to understand your friend's thoughts and feelings. Let your friend teach you what he or she is experiencing, and how you can help.

Stay away from well-intentioned clichés such as, "Time will take care of everything," or "You are holding up so well." While you can't make the hurt go away, your friendship can make a big difference, particularly in the long months following the death. Your friend will need continuing acceptance, love and encouragement just as you or I would in similar circumstances. Telephone, stop by, take the children on an outing, invite the family over for a backyard picnic.

When to seek professional help

While many people in bereavement choose to visit with a trained counselor and benefit greatly, sometimes professional assistance is a must. According to author and bereavement expert Rabbi Earl GroHman, seek professional help if:

- You continually feel hostile toward people you once cared about.
- You are uninterested in anything and everyone.
- Your health is suffering markedly.
- You are relying more and more on drugs, including alcohol.
- You avoid all social activities, wishing to be alone most of the time.
- You are preoccupied with thoughts of suicide.

Hospice bereavement counselors, the clergy, mental health professionals, and family therapists are among the trained professionals who can assist you. At times we all need a helping hand. Reaching out for professional guidance is a mark of courage and intelligence.

Consider a support group

We highly recommend that you try to find and join a support group for survivors of suicide. The support of others who know what you are going through is invaluable. Your local hospice or mental health center can probably put you in touch with any existing groups. Your local crisis hotline or suicide prevention hotline may have useful information. If a local group does not exist, you may wish to ask for help in starting one. The American Association of Suicidology (202-237-2280) provides information on local support groups.

The second part of this article will continue next week.

If you have any questions or would like further information contact the Extension Office.

Grief and the holidays

By Craig Peoples

For many Americans, the holidays are a very joyful and gracious time of year. But for others, it is a sad time because they have lost a loved one or are simply missing something or someone in their life that they may only have memories of that are more overwhelming during the holidays.

No matter what the circumstances are that caused the void, you must handle it in your own way. There is no right or wrong way to grieve and there is no time clock that you punch to say that your grief time is over, it's over when you say it is. It's over when you are able to take that next step and move forward, sometimes that step is small and other times it is huge.

I have found it easier to be more straight forward when someone asks "how are you," most of the time we say "ok" hoping they quit asking but if I am truly having a bad day my response has been honest "not very good, missing him deeply." If the person asking is really concerned, they will engage you further in a conversation.

As you go through this holiday season I suggest don't hide from those who have left us but embrace the memories of the times you shared, hang up ornaments, decorate their resting place, wrap a present as if from them to you but most importantly remember, laugh and of course cry, it will never get easier - you will only learn how to handle it differently.

If you or someone you know are in need of counseling or someone to talk to during this holiday season, there are numerous hotlines available; Crisis Hotline 1-800-273-TALK (8255), National Suicide Prevention Hotline 1-800-784-2433.

USDA provides greater protection for specialty crop growers

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced that greater protection is now available from the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program for crops that traditionally have been ineligible for federal crop insurance. The new options, created by the 2014 Farm Bill, provide greater coverage for losses when natural disasters affect specialty crops such as vegetables, fruits, mushrooms, floriculture, ornamental nursery, aquaculture, turf grass, ginseng, honey, syrup, and energy crops.

"These new protections will help ensure that farm families growing crops for food, fiber or livestock consumption will be better able to withstand losses due to natural disasters," said Vilsack. "For years, commodity crop farmers have had the ability to purchase insurance to keep their crops protected, and it only makes sense that fruit and vegetable, and other specialty crop growers, should be able to purchase similar levels of protection. Ensuring these farmers can adequately protect themselves from factors beyond their control is also critical for consumers who enjoy these products and for communities whose economies depend on them."

Previously, the program offered coverage at 55 percent of the average market price for crop losses that exceed 50 percent of expected production. Producers can now choose higher levels of coverage, up to 65 percent of their expected production at 100 percent of the average market price.

The expanded protection will be especially helpful to beginning and traditionally underserved producers, as well as farmers with limited resources, who will receive fee waivers and premium reductions for expanded coverage. More crops are now eligible for the program, including expanded aquaculture production practices, and sweet and biomass sorghum. For the first time, a range of crops used to produce bio-energy will be eligible as well.

"If America is to remain food secure and continue exporting food to the world, we need to do everything we can to help new farmers get started and succeed in agriculture," Vilsack said. "This program will help new and socially disadvantaged farmers affordably manage risk, making farming a much more attractive business proposition."

To help producers learn more about the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program and how it can help them, USDA, in partnership with Michigan State University and the University of Illinois, created an online resource. The Web tool, available at www.fsa.usda.gov/nap, allows producers to determine whether their crops are eligible for coverage. It also gives them an opportunity to explore a variety of options and levels to determine the best protection level for their operation.

If the application deadline for an eligible crop has already passed, producers will have until Jan. 14, 2015, to choose expanded coverage through the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program. To learn more, visit the Farm Service Agency (FSA) website at www.fsa.usda.gov/nap or contact your local FSA office at offices.usda.gov. The Farm Service Agency (FSA), which administers the program, also wants to hear from producers and other interested stakeholders who may have suggestions or recommendations on the program. Written comments will be accepted until Feb. 13, 2015 and can be submitted through www.regulations.gov.

These new provisions under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program were made possible through the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past five years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. Gloria carols and makes Christmas cut-outs

The Amish Cook

By Gloria Yoder

Holiday greetings to all! Can it really be true that Christmas is just around the corner? Is 2014 actually coming to a close in a few weeks?

In thinking about Christmas my mind travels back to girlhood days. As a little girl I loved going to Ohio or to my grandparents on Mom's side. We would be so excited when we arrived to the beautiful hills of Holmes County, Ohio after an eight-hour drive. The Christmas season could be felt in the air as grandma's candles flickered cozily, casting a holiday scent throughout her house. I loved spending time at her house, she always made me feel special.

Now years have passed since I was a little girl at grandma's yet I still love going to their house. Sitting at grandma's table and eating her tasty food off her pretty dishes is always a treat. Unfortunately I don't get to spend Christmas at their house very often. Each year grandma prepares a huge box with gifts for each of us and sends it out here to Illinois for us to enjoy. We always eagerly anticipate its arrival simply because it's from grandma and grandpa's with love! Last year I was delighted to receive a pillow top grandma pieced and quilted. It even matched with the quilt she made for Daniel and I as a wedding gift!

Grandma's Christmas candy and cut-out cookies are a special treat for all of us. At home Mom always had to ration the amounts we were allowed to eat or they would be gone in no time! Grandma makes all kinds of chocolate candy such as peanut-raisin clusters, coconut drops and turtles. Her cut-out cookies come in all shapes and sizes, frosted and topped off with sprinkles. I'd like to give you her recipe in case you also chose to make some over the holidays.

Another Christmas memory that stands out to me is of the times my mom took my siblings and I along with our neighbor children Christmas caroling. We walked from house to house throughout the neighborhood singing for our parents and grandparents. We were always eager to see what kind of candy or snack would be served to us after caroling at each house.

Now since I'm married we enjoy having the young carolers come to our house singing for us. I wish you could join me watching them and listening to their songs. It's truly worth the show! Imagine a group of 12 children ages 4-12 all bundled up, braving the weather. The excitement levels soar high as they sing at the top of their lungs. The best part of all is when they sing "I said the Donkey." Some sing while the rest neigh like a donkey or bleat like cows and sheep. At the end they all shout "Merry Christmas!" We quickly hand out some treats and they're on their way once more.

May each of you have a blessed Christmas and may God be glorified for sending Jesus to set us free from guilt and shame. Praise His name!

- Ingredients:
- 2 cups white sugar
 - 1 cup butter (softened)
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 cup cream
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - 5 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 4 cups flour

Directions:

Combine in order given. Chill dough at least eight hours. Roll out to 1/4 inch thick. Bake at 325° until cookie is set (8-10 minutes.) Don't over bake. Cool and frost and enjoy! Yield: 5 dozen

- Frosting:
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
 - 4 cups powdered sugar

Directions:

Whip ever thing together, spread on cookies. For extra flavor try browning the butter till almost burnt or replacing the milk with prepared coffee.
